

Merran Thomson

Board Member

Merran has worked in neonatology for over 40 years. After completing training in pediatrics and neonatology in the United Kingdom, she became a Consultant Neonatologist in 1994.

Since 2014, Merran has been a dedicated volunteer with the Chiesi Foundation, joining the Management Board in 2021.

Merran is deeply committed to providing newborn babies with the highest quality care. She believes this care should be centered around the needs of the baby and their family.

When healthcare professionals, health system managers, and ministries work together with families, they can drive and deliver better, sustainable outcomes for all.

Through her extensive experience in clinical practice, research, management, consultancy, and voluntary work, Merran has had the opportunity to collaborate with healthcare professionals in a variety of settings worldwide.

She has a particular focus on facility-based newborn and maternal health in low-, middle-, and high-income countries.
